5D-AI

Fujiiryoki's AI technology

New 5D-AI mechanism developed by Fujiiryoki. We have developed a control system in which information such as the user's body shape or state of muscles is automatically reflected in the massages through AI. We tailor the intensity, skill and smoothness to match each individual's body.

AI Gentle, deep and through. Trying to achieve comfort that goes beyond that of a hand massage.

New feature 5D-AI mechanism

By controlling the massaging movements through AI and with a high precision motor, we have developed smooth massages that feel like they're given by hand, rather than mechanical movements. Also the intensity is automatically adjusted in real time to match the individual's state of muscles to relax the stiff points with a stable massage.

High torque/high accuracy basic massage movements with brushless motor and AI. We have upgraded all the kneading techniques to a higher level.

●Kneading action with 5D-AI mechanism

Smooth approach

Massage movements start slowly to give smooth movements that do not feel mechanical

Thorough acupressure

When the kneading balls protrude (acupressure movements), the speed of the movement is gradually reduced to allow the kneading balls to press firmly into your body.

AI Carefully detects and predicts each body shape to optimize the massage.

New feature AI double sensing

The 'S-line detection system' that detects the spine line adjusts the intensity of the massage, while the 'Shoulder position detection system' that detects shoulder position optimizes each massage point. The user's body shape is detected automatically and more accurately through AI double sensing and this shape is reflected in the treatment through 5D-AI.

Automatically detects spine line

Optimizes the power of the massage

Automatically detects shoulder position

Reads the position of the muscles from shoulder to waist

AI identifies user's body shape in three dimensions and predicts massage points
